ON A BUILDING in Union

sq. New York, a gigantic sign reads: "Vote Communist."

"For the party of class struggle."

"For the workers against the bosses."

That does not attract, as it would have done, when New York's garment workers were almost starving in sweatshops, when street car drivers made

$42.00 a month, when bread lines were long at 2 o'clock every morning, waiting hours in bitter cold for a piece of dry bread and a cup of coffee.

Times have changed. The struggle today is not of workers against bosses, but a struggle of the worker to become a boss.

As for the word "Communist," ask the gentleman that owns one to give you a half interest in his automobile, in his house and lot, his savings bank account.

Those are things that millions of workers own today, and few of them owned forty years ago.

To make your appeal succeed, make it sound reasonable. That applies even to Communists, usually sincere.

Rosamond Pinchof, daughter of the able radical, Amos Pinchof, is out for Governor Smith.

delphia, says that leaders of Philadelphia's hooding ring, using fictitious names, have deposited

$10,000,000 in banks and trust companies in twelve months.

Fortunes can be made in many directions in this country. The sawed-off shot gun, automatic and portable machine gun of the rum runner can be as profitable as the stock ticker.

Sixty different stocks went to new high prices yesterday. Somebody bought nearly 4,000,000 shares in five hours.

Even voracious interest rates, encouraged by the Federal Reserve, seem unable to check the speculation that this country has securities worth owning.

By the way, you haven't seen the beginning of high prices yet.

But that's another story.

Springfield, Aug. 30.—The man who claims paternity of Grace Malhouse Burnham's internationally disowned "eugenic baby" is only a loafer to his mother-in-law.

Capt. Marc Michailovitch Medvedeff may be a young Adonis of Russia, a curly-tressed Hercules and a "perfect specimen" is the rest of the world, but to Mrs. Aaron Kantrovitch, whose daughter, Sifera, he wed, he is just somebody looking for a soft spot on which to lie down.

Mrs. Kantrovitch told about the upper captain today following his claim that he was father of the "eugenic baby" to Page 4, Column 4.

Boston's illicit rum sellers are in a panic today. As a result of the ruthless crusade against bootlegging, "joint" or high and low degree, which has been inaugurated by Superintendent Michael H. Crowley of the Boston police, a majority of the rum sellers today closed their places voluntarily.

It was not until the superintendent personally let a raiding party that swooped down on a cigar store on Broadway in the South End, that the rum sellers were convinced that the dry edict of the superintendent was really made in earnest.

BODIES OF TWO LOST NEW YORK FLIERS ARE FOUND IN DEEP WOODS

Pond Eddy, Pa., Aug. 30 (AP)—The bodies of the two missing New York aviators, Paul M. Merrill and Edwin Rome, were found at dawn today in the wilderness near this little town by two residents of Millard.

The body of one of the men was in the wreckage. The other body was found in the woods, 15 feet ahead, where it had been buried when the Curtiss plane crashed.

The wreckage was found a half mile off the abandoned Pond Eddy rd. The bodies will be packed out to the road by the rescuers and taken in a wagon into Millard.

As soon as the bodies reach the road, they will be taken to the morgue for removal.

Los Angeles, Aug. 28.—Another of those "friendly separations" has occurred in Hollywood.
The principals are Alma Rubens and Ricardo Cortez, long considered among sterling exponents of a happy home life.
The film queen is now living alone in the family house, while Cortez has taken up the abode in a hotel.
There were several sensational stories afloat in Hollywood as to the cause of the break. It was said to have occurred last Monday night and Cortez was said to have left the house, bag and baggage, in a tower of rage.
But both principals denied this. "It is just one of those things," they said, "visually, in union."
As they dined at home they were interviewed halfway between the soup and roast duck.
"I love her very dearly," said Cortez.
"And I love him," said Mrs. Rubens.

San Francisco, Aug. 28 (AP)—An unusual case of glands taken from the body of a hanged man (black) Kelly after he had been executed at San Quentin for murder, had been so successfully transplanted, that the recipient, who was able to withstand a further operation, was made from today on by Dr. G. S. Schmidt, of the University of California, Los Angeles.
It is thought that complete records of the case were lacking, because upon the recovery the patient had left the hospital and disappeared. He insisted, however, that the operation was justified because of benefit to the patient and because it proved a definite contribution to medical science.
Kelly's family threatened to file suit on learning of the operation, alleging the glands were taken from the executed man's body without consent. Kelly was hanged for a series of murders. The name of the gland beneficiary was not disclosed. Dr. Schmidt said he was a charity patient.

SWINDLE'

City Councilman Henry Parkman, Jr., was among the thousands of Bay State investors, including folk in the social register and the State at "Who's Who," that were swindled in the western "farm loan bubble," it was announced today.
In addition to President Lowell, who put $70,000 into the "practically worthless" stocks sold by the Western banker-promoters, these names were made public today:
Henry Parkman, Jr., collected of $100,000; Frank C. Faber, 2nd, $20,000; D. Brewer Eddy, $500; Roger K. Ernst, $20,000; Ernest Lyon, Brookline, $10,000; and Irving H. Silver, $10,000. Firm of Moore & Cabot, $44,000; Jackson & Cabot, brokers, $15,000. $4,000,000 INVESTED HERE
Investors in this section, it was said, purchased about $4,000,000 worth of "worthless" stock.
The Federal grand jury continued its investigation of the case here, and later adjourned until next Wednesday. The interval will be used to permit federal prosecutors to review the remaining evidence and shape for the final presentation. A report will be made by the jury prior to September 11.
The accused men are Guy Huxton, who already is under sentence of an Ohio court; William Carewe, his associate and the president of at least three middle western banks together with a group of alleged corporate associates.
MISUSE ALLEGED
Federal investigators charge that the proceeds from the sale of stocks were used very differently from what was promised. The $300,000 realized from the sale of the Farnes Company of Massachusetts, they say, did not remain long in the treasury of the company.
They charge that several of Huxton's chain of joint land banks in Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota and elsewhere were in bad financial condition, loaded with worthless land, worthless stocks and securities and other similar "assets," and that Huxton remedied that condition by transferring the "junk" to the Farnes Company of Massachusetts and the Missouri Kansas Company, paying for it with the cash assets of those concerns. New England provided 70 per cent of the money.

child born to the wealthy New York widow last January. Medvedoff made his claim of paternity while in New York seeking a divorce from Sifers.

The "perfect specimen" first met the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Kautzovich when he casually inquired for a restaurant on the way to his automobile by a Springfield court four years ago.

He escorted his father-in-law to support him in luxury as soon as he married into the family. Mrs. Kautzovich claims shortly after eloping to New York in February, 1925, after a romantic courtship the former circus strong man, actor and physical culturist brought his bride back to her father's home at 163 Broadway, and settled down to adorning himself, according to the girl's mother.

"I waited for five months for him to go to work and support my daughter before I finally asked him why he did not seek employment," declared the girl's mother after her home today.

She had just put the two-year-old daughter of the couple to bed for a nap. "When I asked him if he intended to go to work he said he would never have married if that meant work, for in Russia the husband of a rich girl did not go to work."

First Century Not His Worst; After 100 He's Sick

Kingston, Aug. 28.—The old saying that "the first 100 years of his life are the worst" is all true, according to Henry T. Cook, Kingston's only centenarian.

For a 100 years Cook went through life without a physician. He was never sick a day in his life. Now he has a doctor attending him for an infarcted foot.

His dear Sappie says the ailment is not serious.

and he picked up the clothes he had lost for him and left her. He hugged and kissed Sifers good bye but made no effort to leave away with him. She was in delicate health and I took care of her and provided them both that I would rear the child if it was a baby girl or keep it until they provided a proper home for it.

Kautzovich expressed surprise when informed that Captain Sifers had filed suit for divorce against her daughter.

RETURNED TO WORK
"My daughter was at her home for the past three months but went to New York almost two weeks ago to resume work at a millinery shop where she has earned her own living ever since the baby was a few months old."

"She has written me only one letter which I received last Monday afternoon and in which she said that they had taken her apartment together. That made me so angry that I destroyed the letter without reading further."

She seldom ever mentioned his name to me because she knows how I despise a man who is not a real man. But when she mentioned him and wide travel together with his thick curly locks and his eyes, I could not help but smile. I am extremely vain of myself."

"She still loved him and told me only this summer that she never could seek a divorce from him. I have been hoping that he would seek the divorce so that I could see what a treasure his baby daughter is."

"She has some pictures taken of her baby Carolyn to show her father and I had understood from her letter of Monday that they had become reconciled after several months of misunderstandings. They did not get along any better than most other couples and perhaps it is because she is American born while he is Russian."

"He has a trunk full of documents and papers to prove his social standing over there. But he certainly never had my these about supporting a wife and I would not tolerate him any longer and have sent him since he left this house in July, 1925. The Kautzoviches have been their money now and for the past two years the former proprietor of the shoe and hat store on Hingham street has been a traveling salesman."

"HUNG UP ON HIM"
"Sifers took the baby to New York to show to his father when the child was only two months old. He received her and the baby gladly, but she returned home in a week and refused to explain to us why he had not made a home for her. I have kept the baby ever since and when he called me over the phone to inquire after my daughter and the baby, I hung up on him and the telephone removed. I will never give up little Bernice Carolyn until I know that she will have a good home and proper care. Sifers only knows that he will have a good home and proper care. Sifers only knows that he will have a good home and proper care."

"My should people have to throw mud at each other in order to get legal divorces if they can't live together?" she asked. "It is a disgrace among our people to divorce but where there are children, one must do it. The court system is the best solution for advanced for the divorce problem."

"One hears that when a couple have a child they are true natural mates but my daughter and the captain look more like two brothers and sister and you see that he is no longer a man. Today women have short hair and long sense instead of long hair as in the past."

The self-styled father of the eugenic baby is a nephew of Abram Sifers, who, until two years ago, conducted an automobile tire store in Kingston. At here Sifers is no longer living here, but his wife, Mrs. Sifers, and the family had nothing to do with the former circus strong man."

She recalled only one occasion when Medvedoff performed as an actor hereabouts. That was when he took part in a lodge show at Holyoke several years ago.

Police Say "Father" of "Eugenic Baby" from Wife

New York, Aug. 28.—Capt. Marc Michalovich Medvedoff, former circus strong man and self-styled father of New York's famous "eugenic baby," has accented himself as a man without fear, but today he showed there is one person in the world of whom he is afraid.

It is his wife.
The divorce petition filed by him against Sifers Kautzovich Medvedoff, of Holyoke, Mass., led him to desire to have the truth known about the origin of the "eugenic baby," Medvedoff told reporters in the office of his lawyer, Kevin Frankel.

Mrs. Medvedoff appeared outside the office, her approximate 50-year-old form beaming in black and white, and looking suggestive. "Are you afraid of your wife?" he was asked. "I am not afraid of anybody," he answered.

Two minutes later a pair of large, blue-coated policemen appeared in the office.

He arose, bowed gracefully and left the building escorted by the bluecoats. At the entrance into 424 he a large woman in black said "Aah," and heaped for him.

Additional policemen threw their arms around her and the other two crammed the perfect specimen, blushing and unsmiling, into a taxicab and safety.

BUSWELL-ROBINSON WEDDING INTERESTS NORTH SHORE SMART SET, SAYS BETTY ALDEN

John Hays Hammond, Jr., Returns From Europe to Act as Best Man; Usher List Is Long

JOHN HAYS HAMMOND, JR., COMES SAILING HOME OVER THE SOUNDING main, en route to Gloucester and a most pleasant duty. A very few days after he debarks in New York he dons the white spot-bonneted regalia proper to afternoon nuptial scenes and stands before the altar as chief support of Leslie Buswell when the master of the wedding with Miss Mary Armstrong Robinson. The Robinson-Buswell alliance is one of the season's most interesting, and the presence of Gloucester's youthful inventor as best man for Gloucester's little theater promoter and arts patron invests the occasion with a very special glamour.

THE WHOLE WIDE WORLD HAS HEARD OF YOUNG MR. HAMMOND, ENDOWED with a wizard's touch for the kilowatts and amperes second only to that of the hermit scientist in his New Jersey fastness. Mr. Buswell, in those hours when the muses are silent and daily business routine is afloat, is a co-worker in the Hammond Laboratories on the Junior Hammond's Gloucester estate. So, naturally, it is to Mr. Hammond that Mr. Buswell turns when the services of a best man are necessary and weddings are on the tapis.

HIS FAREWELL-TO-BACHELORDOM DINNER MR. BUSWELL IS GIVING NEXT Sunday evening, to his usher-best man staff. And seldom is a staff recruited for the pictorial enhancement of a wedding more individually distinctive than that gathering at Stillington next Sunday. The particularly important personage is Henry Davis Sleeper, creator of charming "Beauport" at East Gloucester, the self-made gentleman who had an abiding interest in the creation of Stillington on his wooded hillside.

WISE IN THE WAYS OF ARCHITECTS AND BUILDERS, MR. SLEEPER'S advice and aid were invaluable, as the delightful manor house took shape and Mr. Buswell saw coming true his dream of home and theater in one. And now Mr. Sleeper is quite as proud of the Stillington achievement within and without as he is of his own delightful summer home on the East Gloucester shore. Mr. Buswell has his protégé, Charles Neagle, in the usher staff. Also Thomas Proctor of the North Shore and Howard Twombly of East Gloucester and Boston.

THE BRIDE-ELECT'S TWO BROTHERS, THOMAS AND WILLIAM ROBINSON, are in the usher squad. Robert Johnson of Baltimore and the schooner yacht "Zodiac" is to serve. Also Luke C. Doyle of New York and Walter Yates of Buffalo. Mr. Buswell's recherche entertainments at Stillington cause invitations to be eagerly sought. The small and necessarily exclusive bachelor dinner is something on which he can expend much liberality, as of course he will.

PRUNING A GUEST LIST FOR THE WEDDING DOWN TO a mere 500 or so is a task calling for all the genius of even a Leslie Buswell. How that astute young man can encompass the almost impossible remains to be seen, since his friends run to scores and important North Shore personages need not be included in the coterie railing to places within the Episcopal church, that in an architectural sense, though of chapel-like rather than cathedral proportions. The capital hour is mid-afternoon, and when churchly rites are completed, there is an enormous reception at the Robinson home in Bass Rocks.

WHIRLING THE PROSPECTIVE BRIDE UP TO HER BRIDAL home on a wave of preliminary festivities may be a trying process and one calculated to dim bright eyes and rosy cheeks. Every bride of social consequence is, however, indulged to the utmost in this regard, and apparently thrives on such a program. At least I have yet to view one lovely creature swathed in bridal trappings who looked other than utterly composed and fresh as the morning. All of which is merely preliminary to the statement that Miss Isabel Thorndike and her wedding party, to the number of 50 or more, will dine sumptuously and dance blithely all the hours through on the wedding eve.

THE DINING AND DANCING GOES ON AT BAR HARBOR'S MOST exclusive Pot and Kettle Club, and is for the younger people most immediately concerned with the wedding. The same evening, Friday, there is a dinner at Ambleside for Colonel and Mrs. Phelps.

THE LAND OF THE MIDNIGHT sun, Norwegian fjords and other Northland wonders have intrigued Mr. and Mrs. David Simmonds, 24, during a portion of their honeymoon wanderings abroad. The marvels of that comparatively new fashionable playground also, this summer, interested Mrs. Simmonds, W. Sprague and Miss Sally Sprague, respectively mother and sister of Mrs. Simmonds who was Miss Elizabeth Sprague, prior to her large and elaborately done wedding last June, and a very exquisite bride, so wedding guests agreed unanimously.

I BELIEVE THE SPRAGUES have ended their European jaunt and now are on this side. The newlyweds, however, have yet to make the transoceanic crossing, but plan to do so in the not distant future. Miss Sally Sprague's summertime journey was vitally concerned with the gathering of a debutante troupe. No girl who goes to Paris the summer immediately before her coming out can resist an urge to the shops and exclusive establishments of the great fashion center. Miss Sprague appears destined for enormous popularity, so a wardrobe enormously smart and of enormous size is absolutely necessary.

SEIZE 'JESSE JAMES, 3D,' AS AUTO THIEF

Cardville, Ill., Aug. 30 (AP)—A life of banditry for Jesse James the Third was slipped in the bad here when a prisoner, who confessed shortly after his arrest, told the St. Louis, Mo., police that he had stolen the car in which James was riding when he was shot.

Grappling with the thief in the mind of Sheriff St. Louis, the car was a grandstand of the first James James, the prisoner traced the family history from the assassination of James James, Sheriff, at the hands of Robert Ford, to the time of his own arrest.

He declared his forgiveness for the crime he committed in stealing an automobile at Greenville, Ill., would put him on a straight and narrow road again, to follow the footsteps of Jesse James the Second.

Sheriff St. Louis said the prisoner had extremely changed his mind about the life of a bandit since before he was arrested. He had been over the automobile he said he stole in two days he had been on the road, and boarding a train car at Greenville, Ill., after arrest.

HAND IN HAND Ease and Comfort go merrily off to school..

IN the Coward Shoe for Children, ease and comfort are dominant. Yet appearance or good looks is not sacrificed. And surely, shoes that both look well and feel well are best. That is why we urge you, now that school is drawing near, to take your boy or girl to one of the Coward Stores.

There will you find a wonderful variety of styles and sizes. There will you see how quickly and expertly one of the Coward Salespeople finds the right size and shape of shoe. It takes years of training to fit little toes and arches with such precision, but the men at Coward's all have had long experience.

So before school opens... give your child Coward Shoes. With no cramped toes or burning arches to hinder, the coming "tussle" with Readin', Riten' and "Rithmetic should prove no tussle at all!

Championship Golf Strain on Nerves

By MIRIAM BURNS HORN

In looking over my scrap book, the other day, I ran across the following lines: "Few persons understand the strain of a golf championship. There is nothing else in sport that tests so deeply into the nerves and this nerve pressure in turn has direct pressure on the digestive organs."

It is a strange thing to say, but I have a direct experience of this. I have a direct experience of this. I have a direct experience of this.

HONESTLY, you'll laugh your head off at the strategy that merry Marion employs to win her man away from a professional vampire. He's too weak to resist, until Marion takes him under her wing and cures him thoroughly of "vampiritis." Incidentally she takes him for herself! And how she does it makes the most hilarious comedy that has shook this globe with laughter in years. The Broadway stage hit is at last on the screen! A joy! A delight! A wow! Don't dare miss the fun!

MILLIONAIRES

B. C. FORBES, the greatest writer on known subjects in the world—a man who knows more rich men than any other man—the author of "Men Who Made America"—has taken fifty millionaires and analyzed in an amazing manner the qualities and acts of these men that made them the financial leaders of America.

There is no "early-to-bed-and-early-to-rise" bunk about success in this article. These men are not idle. Some of them never worked long hours in their lives. They were not supermen. But they developed qualities in themselves that built power and riches.

This is one of the most remarkable and helpful books that have ever been presented to the American public through any magazine. And it is the public's first, and perhaps last, opportunity to get most of the extraordinary information it contains.

Popular Airports

Rome Has One, Too

Captain C. B. D. Collyer, joint holder of the recent record for traveling around the world in twenty-three days, was quoted recently in these columns on the subject of the interest of the German people in aviation.

In Berlin, the American traveler thought he discovered the explanation of this interest in the fact that Tempelhof Field is a fine entertainment center, with places right on the field where it is possible to dine and dance.

A similar report is at hand today from Rome, where the builders of one of the most elaborate airports in the world have succeeded in bringing the public to aviation through dancing and athletics.

Since flying is an unnatural and fearsome to most as swimming to a few, the Roman Aerodrome Company, with the aid of the Italian Government, designed the Littorio airport near Rome not only as an airport but as an amusement center.

On Saturdays, Sundays and holidays the Littorio grounds are crowded with 500 or 600 people who have paid the low admission price of one lire (about five cents) for the privilege of dancing and watching the athletic contests—usually soccer. Then, too, there is a cheerful tea garden with huge red and yellow umbrellas. A first-class hotel accommodates those who would make a day of it.

Mayor Nichols, contemplating an expenditure of $500,000 at Jeffries Point, says the East Boston Airport is going to be the "best in the world."

The mayor is politician enough to realize the necessity of public interest, not to say public enthusiasm.

Ample hangars, multi-motored passenger planes, comfortable waiting rooms, perfectly appointed machine shops and control tower and terminal may make a Grade A airport, but of themselves will not make it popular.

Rome and Berlin have the right idea. The airport should be a resort for the people.

What Is Personality?

It Isn't a Smirk, a Smile, or Silk-Covered Legs

SOME "PERSONALITY GIRLS" FROM CALIFORNIA

These charming young creatures, selected as a representative group of "Personality Girls" in California, will be sent traveling across the continent in honor of their victory. Chicago, New York and other cities will be glad to see them, regardless of the amount of personality that they really carry. Their smiles are pleasant, their faces easy to look at.

But do these faces REALLY represent PERSONALITY? And what IS personality?

You see it in Rodin's statue of "The Thinker." That thinker, with his chin on his palm, while he has personality, isn't smiling or laughing, and he doesn't wear silk stockings. You see personality in the faces of the three wonderful Bronte sisters. But you don't see six rows of gleaming teeth, or a smile that cannot come off. You see earnest faces of women who THINK.

There is personality in Ida Tarbell's face, because she also THINKS, although she may not think today exactly as she thought in her early youth.

There is personality in the face of Calvin Coolidge. He couldn't smile like one of these girls even if you offered him the biggest trout of lake or stream.

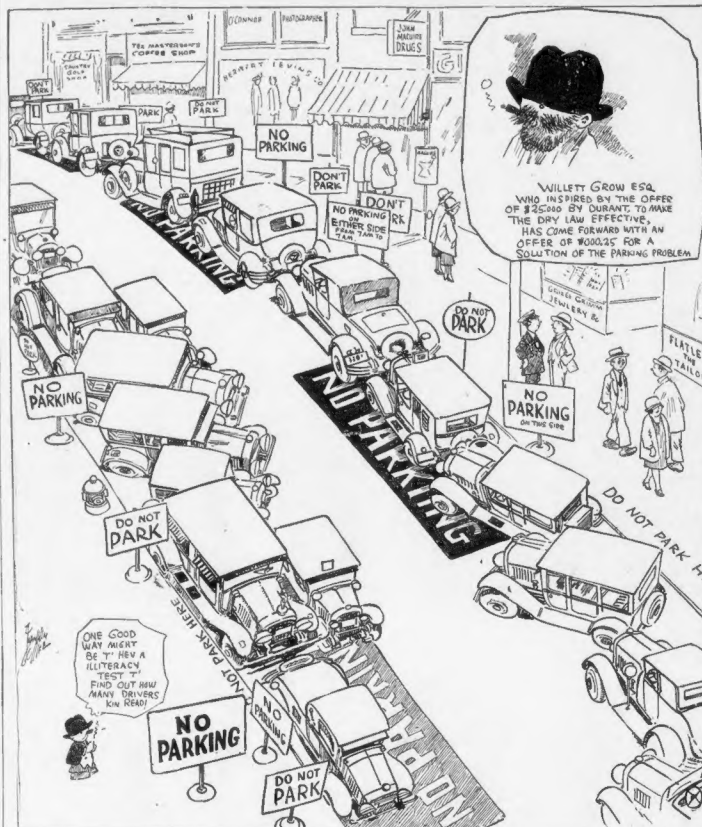

Smile by all means, young ladies, be as cheerful as you can, and be as beautiful as you can. Beauty is DUTY.

But remember that personality goes deeper than pink cheeks, silk stockings, shiny teeth or broad smile.

Personality is formed inside of the skull, and it is formed by THOUGHT. Waving your hands, laughing merrily, smiling all day long, kicking up your little heels, will not produce personality, or take the place of real thinking, which develops personality and character.

Tougher Than the Prohibition Problem

By FRANKLIN COLLIER

TAKE SOME OF GLOOM OUT OF FUNERALS

By DR. FRANK CRANE

ELLEN TERRY was not content with scattering sunshine all her life; she arranged to do the same thing at her funeral.

There was no black, no gloom, no outward parade of sorrow.

Over her pall there was thrown the golden dress she had worn in her stage triumphs.

Her house was not hung with emblems of mourning, but was full of sunshine. The windows were all open and every room was bright with flowers.

Behind her coffin walked her daughter, wearing a simple white dress, and her son in a gray suit. Both were smiling.

Behind them came the rest of her family, all gayly attired.

The flower-decked church was filled with people in bright clothes. The sunshine streamed through the windows. The air was sweet with the scent of roses on the altar and fragrant herbs in the aisles.

If we are Christians, and believe there is no death, or that death is a mere transition, why not act like it?

It is natural for the bereft to feel sorrow when one they have loved is taken from them forever. But believers have a sure hope of a coming resurrection. They look forward to a glorious reunion after death.

It takes considerable courage to live up to this belief. Few people are independent enough of public opinion to do it. It is a matter of rejoicing that this great woman had the courage of her convictions.

Death is as natural as birth. When our time comes we must all pass on.

Why, then, should death be regarded as a sort of blow or unexpected tragedy? A sensible man should make preparations for death, as he makes plans for life.

He should, by means of insurance and thrift, arrange so that his dependents will not be thrown into economic suffering at his departure.

There are some persons who superstitiously refuse to think or plan for death at all, although they know it is a certainty.

There is no use dying to the other extreme and morbidly cherishing the thought of death all the time. It should not be allowed to cloud our lives.

But death ought to have a fixed place in every sane man's life and its unpleasant consequences be mitigated as much as possible.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

You're Doing What You Want to Do!

WHAT ARE YOU DOING IN LIFE? YOU'RE DOING WHAT YOU WANT TO DO.

You don't believe that. You deny it with aggressive yelps. You feel fourth grade evidence to prove that you're NOT doing what you want to do, and humanity double-crosses you.

You actually believe that evidence—just as I believe most of my excuses and alibis. But if you have the courage and honesty to face the facts, AND A REAL DESIRE TO FACE THEM FOR YOUR OWN GOOD, YOU'RE FORCED TO ADMIT that what I say is true.

YOU'RE DOING WHAT YOU WANT TO DO.

There are, of course, certain acts of Providence over which you have no control. You may be born crippled, or acquire a terrible injury. We'll discount such misfortune—at least until you have risen above them. We'll assume that your life has merely the normal handicap in that you may be sure of this—

YOUR LIFE, WHATEVER IT IS, HAS NOT BEEN SHAPED BY THE BENEVOLENCE OF FATE.

NOR BY THE M.A.I.C.I.O.E. MANEUVERING OF HUMANITY.

IT HAS BEEN SHAPED BY YOUR OWN DECISIONS OR EVILIONS.

You wanted to do splendid things in life. You wanted to be strong, adventurous, courageous, original, in short, a superhuman. You felt that the seeds of all such grand achievement were within you. And, as a matter of fact, they did.

There were a thousand reasons for evading that particular opportunity—just evading the price one must pay for any real opportunity. You thought of those reasons and you passed the opportunity, and waited for the next one. And great was the mistake and years went away and you found yourself living a life that wasn't yours.

A full, futile sort of life, quite different from your real dreams. And now you try to blame everyone but making you try to blame everyone but you.

YOU'RE LIVING THAT SORT OF LIFE. BECAUSE YOU WOULDN'T PAY THE PRICE FOR A BIGGER ONE.

WORDS OF THE WISE MEN

Affection is still a brother of judgment and it is hard for a man to deny himself or discourage them to stay with you by using them ill.

—Temple.

When two start into the world together, he that is thrown behind, unless his mind proves powerful, will be displaced with the other.

Seeing America First

Los Angeles, Aug. 29.—This is not only one of the most amazing cities in America, but the "Franklin" it attracts the long-haired, the unwashed and the unshaven as tramps attract flies. A benign silver-haired delegation of men in fringed suits is here this morning.

"Brother," he ventured, "what a happy this glorious day?"

He coughed apologetically behind his hand to hide the mounting blush. "Frankly, I could think of nothing."

He handed me a tract and moved on, wagging his head. Another unclean gentleman who constantly soaped his hands came to announce he was out to join the cabinet as "secretary of peace."

These curious complexities are what make Los Angeles fascinating to me. Its radio chatter from the city, its southerly and its Polynesian psychologists has marked it as the cradle of Babel.

A haven for nuts. And yet in many ways it is more cosmopolitan and worldly than New York.

Its apparent effort, it forces ahead with the certainty of a sure-footed mountain goat. Remain away a year and you return to find almost another city. It sprawls over a far larger than that of London and is constantly tearing down and building up.

No stranger can visit Los Angeles without warming to its hospitality. It has learned the value of the friendly overture more than any other city perhaps on the face of the globe. And those who have the idea of a "hot" city, like "Tomb of the Unknown," are just mistaken.

No other city has faced more obstacles or overcome them. In the meantime the sole asset with which it has created a city of a stick of locusts is a bowl of ice cream.

THE ice cream wagon reaches the outskirts of grandeur here. Laid out by Wilshire Boulevard—the pink of the west—was a creamery of the most modern and the most colorful, houses and on either side of the road, the name of the city was traced in delicate script.

The driver was a white-haired old man and was waving his hand as he drove, creating the effect of a stick of locusts in a bowl of ice cream.

HARRY RICKETTS, my chauffeur, who has never been west of Albany, N. Y., under a train seat from all the way after passing Gary, Ind. and now after three days in California, intimates he might not return East.

"You can have your New York," he said.

LOS ANGELES gives its visitors a warm, friendly welcome. It is almost sure to be a habit for an elderly walk. This morning a lady approached with a bundle while I looked away coolly and gently smiling at her. It developed she merely had a baby held with her.

How It Doesn't Work

Ask Mrs. Willebrandt About Prohibition

Mrs. Willebrandt, brilliant young Assistant Attorney-General, raided the most respectable cabarets and other bootlegging establishments in New York City, and actually summoned young sons of the very rich to tell how they spend their money in those resorts.

Young gentlemen with millions for a background hired good lawyers and left town. They need not have worried. The Federal Attorney realizes that while it is all very well to fine an occasional bootlegger one day's profit, to question the bootlegger's customers would be quite a little TOO far.

The District Attorney says he will not allow "such pitiless publicity," so the young gentlemen are not to be questioned.

That helps you to understand prohibition and how it does NOT work.

News for Silk Worms

Progress Helps Everybody

Once, in Japan, to take silkworms or their eggs across the Japanese border was a crime and was punishable with death. Japan wanted, but could not keep, a monopoly of the silk industry.

Now, in the days of "Rayon," or artificial silk, it wouldn't matter much and adult silkworms may rejoice in the prospect that their children may no longer be boiled alive in the cocoon.

All over the world factories making artificial silk are springing up. North Carolina is just building one to cost $80,000.

The Japanese girl that picked mulberry leaves to feed the young silkworms is now working in Japanese artificial silk factories. So the world changes.
